

The Search that Never Ends

In the industrial life of America research has been of constantly increasing importance. Today it is a national resource, for the research of industrial and college laboratories is proving its value in war.

The Telephone was born in a laboratory, a result of researches in electricity and acoustics, speech and hearing. And scientists have continued their search unceasingly — learning more about these subjects, to make the telephone better and better.

At Bell Telephone Laboratories the search will never end. Since before Pearl Harbor its scientists and engineers have concentrated on products for our armed forces. But when this work is happily over they will be ready to continue their developments for the needs of peace.
