

DECEMBER

DECEMBER 3—Glory has once more come to dear old Woodward. Two of her illustrious Seniors have walked off with art prizes in the bird drawing contest for greater Cincinnati. Dot Moreland got the first prize and Connie Williams took the third prize. Those kids really know how to give out with the bird!

DECEMBER 5—The basketball season is in the offing. Basketball books 75c. Maybe I should get a job. A dollar here and a dollar there. Oh, Me!

DECEMBER 11—The Hockey play-off is in full swing. Such competition. You'd think their lives depended on the outcome. But then that's what makes the whole thing so interesting. Wonder which team will win the championship? Some of the girls have been playing a mighty sharp game. Such form!!

DECEMBER 12—Basketball game today. It would have been fun to beat Hughes. Hope we have a better basketball season than we did football.

DECEMBER 18—Pat Long withdrew, she's Mrs. William Greenwood now. That's one way to get out of mid-year exams. Seems like jumping from the frying-pan into the fire to me!

DECEMBER 19—Juniors and Sophs had their maps transferred to paper today. In plain English, they had their pictures taken!!

DECEMBER 22—A Jr. Town Meeting was broadcast right from our auditorium today. Billy Gore, Tom Garner, Tom Bugge, and Gene Gamble told the world what they think "American Youth Expects from the School." My, such intellectual fellows!!

DECEMBER 24—Our Christmas assembly was beautiful and impressive. Between Miss Clark's artistic decorations and Mr. Rimanoszy's musical arrangements I don't know which contributed the most. Now for 12 glorious holidays, sigh, sigh!!

DECEMBER 27—Y-Teen Dance was a big success. Ow, my feet. Whoever said that to be fashionable at a dance a gal had to wear high heels! I'll probably be hobbling for a week!

JANUARY

JANUARY 5—Back in the old shackles again. No more holidays 'till February. I wonder if I'll be able to survive. And there are those horrible examinations to worry about too!

JANUARY 8—The War memorial collection began again today — this is the third year. We'll get that plaque or burst! Hope it's the former; the latter would be messy!! Aren't I the vulgar one!

JANUARY 13—Tumbling Club started today. Mrs. Rehkamp says I take the name of the club too literally. I wonder what she could mean!!

JANUARY 14—D. A. R. Exam. Whew, was it ever tough. I struggled and struggled but I'm afraid I didn't do too well. It's one of those things. Success would be profitable too!

JANUARY 16—Things are sort of slow these days. I could really settle back and relax except for one thing. Drat it! Wish I hadn't left things slip here, there and everywhere. Bulldog out today. Carried an announcement about an Easter trip to Washington, D. C. Wish I could think of some way to finance it! Kids who have gone on these conducted tours have had wonderful times. On the go from morning 'til night. There's so much to see in Washington. I could even stand to listen to Congress! And the jaunt to Annapolis. I guess it includes that. Now that would really be something!

JANUARY 19—Martha Scott won the first prize on "Stars of Tomorrow" program. I bet Mr. Rimanoczy will be sorry to see her graduate and leave the choir this year. Talent isn't to be found just everywhere.

JANUARY 20—The Roamers sang at an assembly today. "Music hath charms that sooth the savage soul."

JANUARY 21—Pat Mahaffey won the D. A. R. contest. Why shouldn't she? She remembers the history of Ohio from the beginning — she was there. Meow!!

JANUARY 22—Senior meeting. Mr. Roebuck told us how to start petitions for Senior officers. I wonder who I could talk into circulating one for me. "Madam President" — sounds pretty good!!

JANUARY 23—Exam schedules were posted. I dread them, but then, these are the last I'll have to take (I say hopefully!!!)
