

"It seems to me I have heard this tune before" — and we're sure you have, but isn't it true that we never miss something until it is out of reach — that we never desire something so poignantly until we find it impossible to obtain. So it is, we shall not truly miss Woodward until we can look back in retrospect and view our fleeting, four years of purposeful growth, healthful activity, and enriching acquaintances.