

LORETTA JENKINS. Active, enthusiastic . . . a girl to be counted on, always . . . one of our Spanish habladores.

DOROTHY JOHNSON. Ranks high in her class, and does well in everything she undertakes.

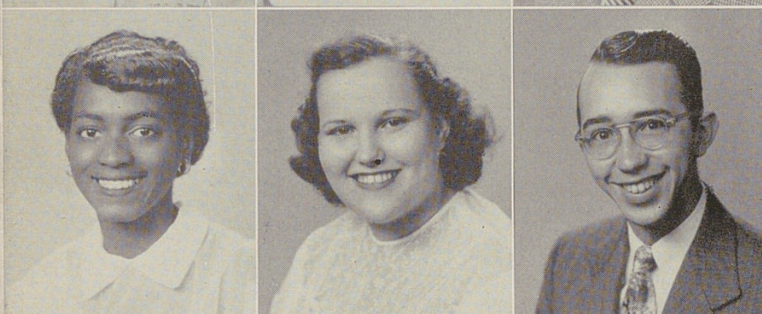

LAVONIA JOHNSON. A little girl, but a big part of Woodward's school spirit, and of Woodward's band.

LOIS JOHNSON. Easy to talk with, pleasant to walk with . . . not to be forgotten.

ALICE JONES. Small-size person, king-size smile. Depend on her for a friendly greeting.

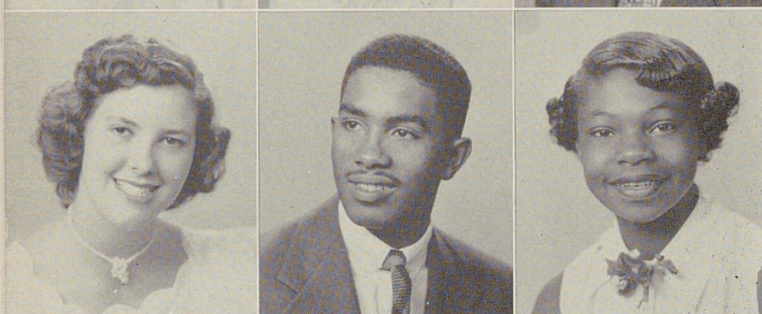

CLENNON JONES. Lively, likable . . . a four-year man on Woodward's basketball team. Next on his schedule is the navy.

DOROTHY JONES. Sincere, energetic, and friendly . . . has the ability to meet many people and to make them her firm friends.

IMOGENE JONES. Her quick-as-a-bunny shorthand and typing should make an impression even in the cold, cruel business world.

LOUIS JONES. An invaluable member of the 1952 class. His ideals and school spirit are an inspiration to his classmates.

BILLY KELLEY. Her sedate manner is greatly admired. Why can't we all be like that?

RALPH KELLY. Our energetic, congenial money man . . . One of Woodward's track stars whose high jump matches his high grades.

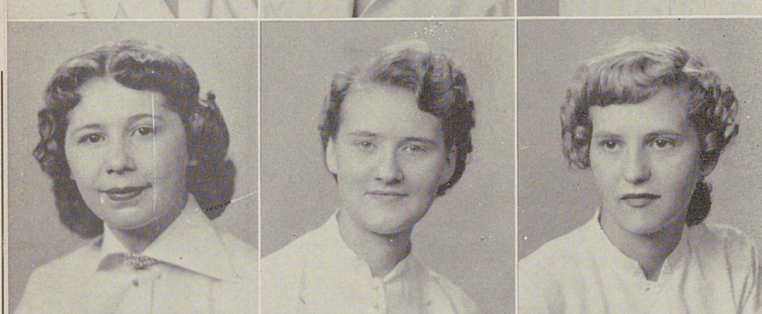

MARY KELSEY. A little girl with a big talent. Her drawings have been outstanding in all of our front-hall art exhibits.

GLEE KENNY. Whenever Glee is around, things are gleeful. Her intelligent contributions to the Junior Town Meeting made us proud of her.

FLORA KILGORE. No one overlooks "Little Red." An energetic booster of many organizations and a talented member of the choir.

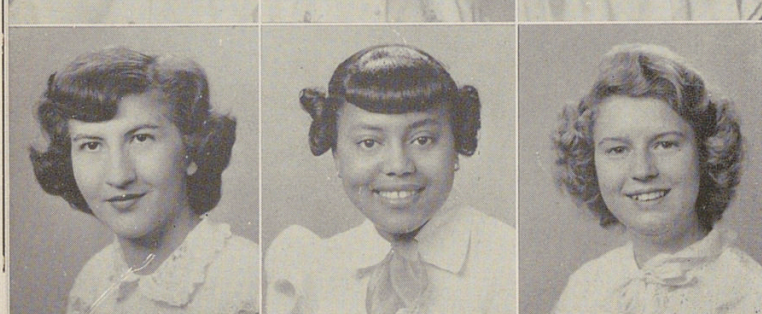

MARGIE KING. Just knowing Margie is a delight; her wide green eyes are a lovely sight.

JACQUELINE KOLDE. Jackie has lovely clothes and she knows just how to wear them.

FRANCES KUHLMAN. Her appearance is always as pleasant as her personality and gracious manners.

MARY LACEFIELD. Pretty clothes, pretty hair . . . it must be a satisfaction to look like Mary.

BARBARA LAMBING. Babs has taken her studies seriously, so she is ready to make someone an admirable secretary.

VONNIE DEAN LAMPKIN. Action personified. You can always count on Vonnie to cheer you up if you're feeling low.

SHIRLEY LAND. To know her means to like her . . . her shy smile and twinkling blue eyes could charm a bird right off a tree.
