

11. Today we saw Robin Freeman up in our gym. We all wondered — is he human?

12. Central Alpha's Hoop Hop celebrated Alpha's first Central League basketball game and their first defeat.

16. Talent Assembly after school. If the Hi-Capades turn out as well, we'll be satisfied.

Senior girls' H. R. 314 was painted today. Some senior boys graciously invited them to share Room 201, but Mr. Roebuck somehow couldn't see it that way.

22. End of the third report.

23-25. E X A M S — need we say more?

26. Central Alpha's Semester Shuffle helps us forget the worries we had over exams.

FEBRUARY

4. Report cards today. Those exams weren't really so bad after all. The seniors are especially relieved — these may have been their last. (They hope!)

9. Phi Epsilon Alpha's Cupid Swing went over in a big way. Ronnie and Lois were elected Mr. Hi-Y and Miss Y-Teens. (Respectively).

19. Woodward's Band played for the C.T.A. Lecture Series at Schiel School.

20. The guys and gals were all prettied up for their club pictures today. Clock watching was encouraged for a change.

21. Alpha Chi Gamma's slumber party. No sleep for the girls tonight!

22. George Washington was a great man, a noble man . . . no school today!

Central Alpha's Levi Leap was the most successful ever. If you'll pardon the vulgarity, the jernt was loaded and really hoppin'!

25. The up stairs at the north end of the west side of the building were switched to down stairs and the up stairs, we mean the formerly down stairs we mean the — uh — some stairs were changed to up, or was it down? . . . Oh well, the stairs were switched. Know what I mean? And, believe it or not, the whole thing makes life simpler. This scientific idea sprang fully formed from the mighty mind of Mr. Becker. Executed, naturally, by student council.

27. Posters went up all over the building. Resolution: I'll never say "ain't" again.

29. Basketball Playday. The girls spent the evening bandaging knees, but it was fun!

MARCH

4. Student-Faculty Game. My sides are still aching. We recognized again that Mr. Rubendunst is a swell guy with a great sense of humor.

5. Seniors were measured for caps and gowns. "G" day is drawing nearer and the seniors have a far-off gleam in their eyes.

7. Founder's Day. We wonder if we'll be back in fifty years.

11. 11th and 12th grade Career Assembly. Very informing.

12. Bulldogs out.

15. Central Alpha's Shamrock Shuffle featured the wearing of the grin. (That's a joke.)
