

JUNE

4. The seniors took their final exams today. Are they sweating!

5. Class Day was beautiful and sad for the seniors. More than one pair of dewy eyes could be detected as the last chorus of the Farewell Song was sung.

6. Caps and gowns are here.

6-10. Underclassmen exams. The poor kids thought enviously of the carefree seniors as they labored over the gruelling sheets of questions.

7. Seniors receive their final reports. The long wait is finally over. To celebrate, they dolled up and went to Alpha's Spring Prom. The girls all looked lovely and the fellas were really sharp!

9. The long-awaited "G" day at last. But somehow the seniors aren't quite as gay as they expected. They feel mixed emotions — happy, yet sad; proud to receive their diplomas, yet humble because they now realize that they are just beginning their real education.

13. Underclassmen received their last report cards and school was out for the summer. They're looking forward to being next year's sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

14. Delta Hi-Y's Spring Prom — an event! We'll never forget how beautiful the queen looked when she was crowned.

So it's the middle of June. All good things, and that includes this year of our lives, do come to an end. 'Bye.
