As the ANNUAL goes to press, the baseball season is just getting under way. So far this season the Woodward nine has not been able to ring up a victory. Their first loss was to Norwood, seven to five. Then they dropped the second game, ten to two, at the hands of Western Hills' Panthers. However, even though they have two strikes against them, they still have the greater part of the season ahead. From here on out, with the coaching of Mr. Kraushar, we anticipate good things of the boys. When the Bulldogs are on defense, Don Oliver, a freshman whose fine playing rated him a spot on the varsity, holds down the initial sack. Joe Somori and Adolph Frazier form the double play combination, with the former at the keystone sack and Adolph working at shortstop. Rounding out the infield is old reliable, Sy Broughton, "knockin' 'em down" at the hot corner. The roving boys are Hoise Patterson, another freshie, left field; Bill Spivey, center; Bob (hustle) Miles in right field. For their third and final season Bob Jackson and Frank Hargrove are battery mates. Bob pours them and Big Frank catches them.
