

ARTICLE VI. To our dear teachers we bequeath:

To Miss Wurtz — we leave a Fourth Year English class that will at least know the fundamentals of English Grammar.

To Mrs. Walker — we leave a Bulldog Staff that will be able to meet, if not beat, the deadline. (We never could!)

To Mr. Heller — we leave more Fourth Year Math classes like this year's. No! Not that!!

To Miss Levi — we leave more radio programs so that she can continue to show off Woodward's fine students with their oratorical proclivities.

To Mr. Harkins — we leave a Chemistry class that will get right to work so he won't have to repeat, "Say you're taking Chemistry? When you gonna start?"

To Miss Higgins — we leave bigger and better assemblies and some Stagehands who will exert a little effort!

To Mrs. Kamphaus — we leave just one student who can multiply on the comptometer.

To Mr. Rimanoczy — we leave a Senior Class that can sing four parts, not ten.

To Mr. Floyd — we leave more classes of brilliant Physics students. This year's class spent its time trying to discover from whence came his, to say the least, unusual ties and shirts.

To Miss Kamm — we leave a class of girls who can all make the grade as court stenographers.

To Mrs. McDaniels — we leave a sincere hope that there will be students who like to read for reading's sake! Paging Miss Mary Blanche Boland!

To Miss Curry — we leave a Student Council that will do its own work.

To Mr. Alexander — we leave a football team that will bring home the bacon.

To Miss Hanau — we leave freedom from Savings Stamps. Maybe the Republicans can balance that budget!

To Miss Tenhundfeld — we leave an Annual Staff that will strive earnestly, but futilely, to put out an Annual as good as ours!

ARTICLE VII. To the world at large we give the Class of '47 with the hope that it will appreciate our generosity!

Respectfully signed and submitted this day of June, 1947.

THE CLASS OF '47.

I. M. SADD, Witness.

M. E. TOO, Witness.

S. O. LONG, Witness.