VISUAL AIDS

See the students rushing down the hall? They are headed for Room 112 which has been set aside as a projection room for Visual Aids. The value of visual aids in education has been recognized and serious steps have been taken for the advancement of this educational aid.

The Visual Aids organization at Woodward trains operators for running school and outside movies. The Visual Aids Corps meets every Tuesday at three o'clock in the projection room. Mr. Alfred Rubendunst, the capable instructor of the group, has available, every hour of the day, a trained operator to run movies for teachers who wish to make use of the valuable offerings of the Visual Aids Department.
