

June 8, 1995 the Senior Class met in the auditorium as they prepare for graduation. They were putting on their robes of orange and black, fixing their hair and putting on their caps and making sure they were in place. Friends said their final goodbyes. The Junior class officers; Erin Norman, De'Mond Howell and Meghan Jackson prepared to lead the class across Withrow's famous bridge for their final time. As the Senior class made their final walk teachers were there to support them, parents took pictures (shed a few tears of joy), and horns blew to recognize our grads. Chanah Benz, Valedictorian gave a special charge to her class to remember God in their life. The mayor Roxanne Quall declared this day Chanah Benz Day presented by Mr. Charles Simpson. Linh Tran the Salutatorian spoke to the crowd how he had many barriers he had to overcome including language to make to this point. He thanked the Withrow Family for making him feel welcome in a foreign country. Senior Class President Howard Beatty gave his peers a challenge to make a difference in this world so that education is more important than a new football stadium.

Our speaker gave an uplifting speech and gave the graduates something for thought. Dr. Rice greeted each graduate and gave them a pearl to let them know that each of them were special, important and unique.

Congratulation Class 1995 for Striving for Success
