

- Item 12—Wright, for resigning from the invitation committee after the work was done and before money was collected. Declared insane.
- Item 13—Elias, for taking Wright's place on the invitation committee after work was done and before money was collected. Declared sane.
- Item 14—Gott, for being so susceptible to wayward influence. Declared insane.
- Item 15—Sheets, for constantly giggling. Declared insane.
- Item 16—Schwartz, for constant attendance at Chris's. Declared insane.
- Item 17—Buckingham, for marrying a rich girl. Declared perfectly sane.
- Item 18—Siegfried, for taking the risk of trying to write funny things. Declared hopelessly insane.
- Item 19—Edwards, for trying to imitate a monkey in a cage. Since the evidence shows it is natural for him to act thusly, declared insane.
- Item 20—Kelly, for being noisy in lecture. (Judgment suspended, for it is thought that when he grows up he will be of sound mind.
- Item 21—Burdette, for leaving the dark-haired lady on the train. Declared insane.
- Item 22—Lindeman. No examination, as he could speak only the words, "Clara" and "Stock." Declared insane.
- Item 23—Compton, for not outgrowing his youthful appearance, having had three years of city life. Declared insane.
- Item 24—Miss Stock, for attempting to lecture to a bunch of hoodlums. Declared insane.
- Item 25—The remaining members of this class are not thought to be insane at all times, and, since no evidence has been brought against them, no judgment will be rendered.

In spite of the evidence produced against various members of this class it is declared by this court that the class be competent to make an incontestable will.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1907

In the name of the benevolent Father of all, we, the Class of 1907 of the Ohio College of Dental Surgery, do make and publish this, our last will and testament. Knowing full well that on account of the undisputed fact that there never has been, and, in all probability, never will be, a class graduate from this school so richly endowed mentally, physically and morally as we ourselves; recognizing the honor our presence has bestowed upon this school, and having a proper brotherly feeling for those who are to follow in our footsteps, and recognizing their natural incompetency, and wishing to aid and assist them, in order that, when compared to the high standard we have placed before them, that they may not appear entirely insignificant when standing in the light of our reflected glory, we do, as a whole, give and devise as follows:

Item 1—Our studiousness to deserving under classmen.

Item 2—Our youthfulness to the Freshmen.

Item 3—Our morals to the Society for the Suppression of Vice.

Item 4—The love bestowed upon us by the Faculty to the Juniors.
