Carrying the Weight

Although everyone loves to find themselves in the yearbook and save it to look at in the future, most do not realize the immeasurable time and effort it takes to produce it. This year the job was made even tougher by the fact that there were only seven members of the staff - six girls and one boy. The job took us countless hours and it could not have done without the help of many people.

First, I would like to thank the computer specialist Mrs. Kim Jarvis. Even though she was in the later stages of her first pregnancy, she still took the time to give us her help and advice on how to make the computers do what we wanted them to do.

Secondly, I need to express our immense gratitude to Mr. Edward Soldo. Most of the pictures seen in the color section we owe to him, and we could not have covered Homecoming and pep rallies as fully as we did without him.

I would also like to thank Doug Vice, our Jostens-Hunter representative. I could not have managed without the many hours of support and advice he gave us, not to mention the candy.

Special thanks goes out to the senior editors who brought experience and great ideas to the yearbook: Courtney Shackelford, Stacy Walter, and Amy Willinger.

Thank you also needs to be said to Carly Bella and Benji Tolchinsky. It was their first year as section editors and they proved that they have the motivation and intellect needed to handle the responsibility.

I would also like to thank Kim Mangus and Valerie Schubert for their input and time spent drawing layouts and writing captions.

Thanks also needs to be said to the fourth bell journalism class: Scott Webb, Jaime Jahnigan, Lauren Casper, Michael Leichman, Stuart Mandel, and David Zakem. Special thanks to Megan Harmon and Beth Wilson for their work on the index.

Likewise, I would also like to say thank you to the staff members who spent endless hours with me after school and in the summer trying to get the book sent: Carly Bella, Courtney Shackelford, Benji Tolchinsky, and Amy Willinger.

Finally, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the yearbook advisor, Mr. Jim Cafferky. He continually lent his time, advice, effort, and support to me in times of both desperation and success. Without him, there would be no yearbook.
