

HOWDY, PARTNER

olding each other close, seniors Scott Marshall and Sara Gallenstein enjoy their dance to the music of Selah. For the Homecoming Dance, many students added a western flare to their formal outfits with cowboy hats, wild west guns, and bolos.

HOMECOMING HOEDOWN

aving a blast, sophomore Marina Tomic makes her way across the western decorated commons in a dance line. Dancing, socializing, resting, and waiting in a never ending line for portraits were some of the various activities of the evening.

ROYALTY OF SYCAMORE

eigning as the Homecoming King and Queen, seniors Tina Gillihan and Vince Ketterer partake in the traditional court dance. Both were integral parts of Homecoming festivities; Ketterer was a football team member and Gillihan participated with the Flyerettes in a halftime performance.