

The Log 2007

Edited by Sam Pollak

What was behind Sycamore? What made it tick? Who were the people that gave it life? Can anyone crack the code? The dedicated staff of The Log was there to solve the mystery. For the entire year, 62 committed writers, editors, and managers gave their time to uncover the little-known facts about the school and the people that made it unique. Their mission was successful. On the pages that follow, The Log staff has recorded its findings and has opened them to the public. Opportunities to discover the inner workings of the school were rare, so the staff of The Log has done the reconnaissance and brought the information to the world.

Get ready to uncover the secrets of Sycamore...

Get ready to look behind the scenes...

Get ready to crack the code...

Students from all grades cheer in the expanded student section of the new stadium at the Homecoming game. Lively school spirit did not only exist at football games; green and gold were permanent wardrobe colors on a day-to-day basis. Turn to page 16 for more Homecoming excitement.
