

q&a

Nicole Hasselbeck

q) Where did you go for spring break this year?

a) I went to Destin, Florida.

q) Who did you go with?

a) I went with my family and friends.

q) What was your most memorable moment?

a) Playing sand volleyball with the hot lifeguards was really fun.

Not allowed to leave for spring break, the varsity boys lacrosse team played well during the week. "I think it is absolute malarchy that my team can't leave," said Michael Caligaris, 11. Although the team had the chance to bond, many players wished to go away for the break.

Making the most of their break, Mary Bidwell, 11, and Allison Coleman, 11, sleep between college visits. The two visited the University of North Carolina, University of Kentucky, University of Tennessee, and Virginia Tech. "We wanted to get a jump start on college visits and thought spring break would be the perfect opportunity," said Coleman.

Vacationing in a huge group for the break, Margaret Hill, 11, Jennifer Baum, 11, Carley Schweet, 11, Lissa Amin, 11, Jessica Doris, 11, and Samantha Hunter, 11, enjoy the break with all of their close friends. "It was so fun being with all my girlfriends, and we met a lot of really cool people who we hung out with, too," said Hunter.

At the Prado Museum in Madrid, Spain, students are able to see many pieces of art that they had learned about throughout their years in Spanish class. The students were also taken to Toledo, Sevilla, Cordoba, and Granada. This trip was a great learning experience for students who had taken Spanish for at least three years.

I didn't go on vacation for break but I did go to Cusi with my friends. It was fun to have time to do something different for a change,"

-Amy Morton, 11