The squeak of shoes. The cheer of the crowd. The "thump" of a well-placed bump. For Sycamore's Varsity Girls Volleyball team, these are all familiar sounds, creating a soundtrack for the season.

Compared to other years, however, the girls had to find new ways to work together on and off the court. "We had a very small team this year in terms of people playing... [and] we had a lot of injuries to a lot of really good players," said Abigail Kaniecki, 12. For the girls, these challenges actually helped them become a tight-knit team.

Even with limited players, the Lady Aves completed an amazing season, hearing the sweet sounds of victory!
