

a change in boys waterpolo the tides

The Boys Waterpolo team made a splash this year getting 3rd place in the South Regional, and 5th place overall in the State Tournament. Even with no pool at Sycamore, these boys still managed to give it their all this season with all their home games at Princeton High School. Waterpolo calls for strength, communication, and of course, astounding leadership. "I had an amazing time this year with my team; we were so lucky to have seniors that were all willing to play leading roles in practice and games," said Sophomore Grant Carmody, who has a close relationship with all the seniors.

From switching pools, to great coaching, to even new hair, so many elements came together to create amazing memories and a great team dynamic for the boys waterpolo team and season.

STEPPING UP

What better way to support your friends in your sport, than to be on the sidelines of every game as the team manager. Jack Carmody took on the role of team manager his senior year after playing his Freshman year. "I chose to be manager because I still wanted to be involved with the waterpolo team and all my friends their senior season. Watching all the boys kill it in the pool definitely made me want to play a little. If I could go back and do it again I would have stuck with it from freshman year."

Jack Carmody, 12.
