

SARINA OLIFF, 10: "In Adaptive Art, typically we will work with the students on different projects. Right now, we are working on primary and secondary colors. My favorite part about being a mentor is that I get to meet so many new students and learn their personalities. I love hanging out with them and making all kinds of art with them. It's so fun to watch them grow as artists throughout the year."

SOPHIA DALY 10: "I made this dress called The Sun and it is inspired by my idea of the sun goddess who I link to traditional pagan spirituality. I love this dress because of all of the different types of fabrics in it and the dynamic way it moves and shimmers."

ELIZABETH WOLPHER, 10: "I made this piece in my Art III Drawing Class. In the artwork is a drawing of my Freshman Year Math Teacher, Mrs. Marth. She is one of my favorite teachers of all time and someone that I definitely look up to as a role model."
