"You have to get in the mindset to win and to trust the man next to you.

Teams that have a group of guys that can work on and off the court end up being the best teams. I'm the middle hitter for the JV team and I enjoy this position because you are the big man on the court and your job is to out-block the other middles and hitters.

I like to bring the team together before the game and have a good talk before to motivate (them.) Whether they're a bench player or not, it helps with communication and confidence on the court."
