

A Final Thanks

Most people do not realize how much work it takes to complete a yearbook. What made the task especially great this year was the fact that this year's book was larger than ever, with more pages, more captions, and more stories.

This book could not have been possible without the help of many people. We would like to thank our Hunter-Jostens representative Doug Vice for his assistance in putting this book together and explaining the technical aspects of the book.

We would also like to thank Executive Photographic for their cooperation in shooting and developing pictures for the yearbook. We would especially like to thank Gary Brenner, owner, for his assistance, and Al Hartman and Mike O'Connell for their work on the cover.

We would additionally like to thank Ed Soldo and Dick Pfirman for trusting us with their slides, for the color section would not be complete without them.

We also would like to thank Gayle Marsh for allowing us to use her darkroom, enabling us to meet our final deadlines.

Likewise, we would like to thank Rick Juneja, Joel Pravda, Fritz Prior, and all the other student photographers for contributing pictures.

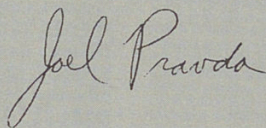

Furthermore, we would like to thank section editors Amy Allee, Beth Kirlin, Allison Ogle, Sanjay Sharma, and Jennifer Tolchinsky for the countless hours they contributed. Moreover, we would like to thank the following staff members for their exceptional contributions: Jon Biedermann, Kristie Bowman, Erin Cline, Julie Noiman, Amy O'Connor, Rebecca Scott, Stacie Smith, Andrea Spacarelli, Jennifer Weeks, and Nikki Zadikoff.

Finally, we would like to express our appreciation to Jim Cafferky, our advisor, because without his help, the 1990 Sycamore Log would not have been possible.

Last of all, we would like to thank ourselves, for without us, there would be no 1990 Sycamore Log. (Just kidding . . . No, on second thought, it's true.)

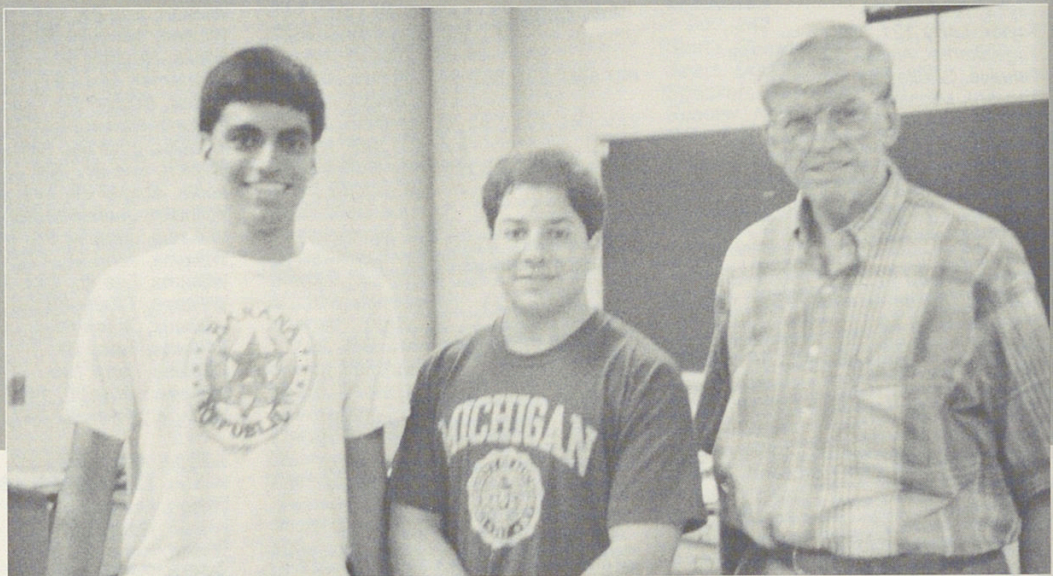

Sincerely,

Joel Pravda, Editor-in-Chief
