

Young men dressed up in tuxedos, dignified in all the maturity of their attire, and young ladies filled with brilliance, delightful and beautiful. The 1986 Sycamore Prom was the culmination of a year full of pleasant and exciting memories. It was a moment for stopping to recall and savor the companionship of friends, not only for seniors but also for juniors. Yet, Prom has special significance for seniors, representing the highlight of a spectacular year, it is retained in memory as an event, which was both nostalgic and delightful.
