With both sides full of pent up aggression (maybe the teachers more than the students), it was a battle for victory at the student-teacher basketball game.

It was a game where the men were separated from the boys. Or women to girls, whichever. Mr. Doug Mader, with his serious face on, guarded David Buchberger, 11, as the students headed for the net.

Girls can play too, especially those on the basketball team. Abbie Tepe, 10, left Mr. Randy Lothrop and Mr. Paul Melnick in the dust with her super passing skills. Lothrop played basketball almost every Friday morning, but it was with other teachers, so Tepe and others' skills surprised him. The teachers rallied, and it was a close game.
