TOTAL CONTACT.

Mike Byrd of the green team fell on his opponent after he jumped for a rebound. Rebounding was important in game situations, both after the opposing shot as well as after your team's shot. A loose ball could quickly be claimed for a quick sprint down the court, or another shot at the basket.

"I'M OPEN." Philip Trotta

of the green team, waited for a pass from one of his teammates. Communication is essential for offensive play in basketball.
