The Search Begins

By: Carly Mandel

Sophomores and juniors begin to search for the perfect college

"I can't wait to go to college, but I'm really freaked out about actually deciding which place I'm going to spend the next four years of my life at."

>Kelsey Kiley, 10.

When did you start getting interested in colleges?

"At the beginning of the school year I became interested in looking for colleges. This is because being a sophomore, many students started talking about colleges."

>Adam Woll, 10.

"I am not interested in colleges yet. I think it is because I don't want to start looking because I don't have enough extracurricular activities, and from what I hear a lot of colleges look at that."

>Kayla Hearl, 10.

"I am interested in colleges. Probably because in a couple of months I am going to have to start applying to some. I am willing to look in to any college that will give me a scholarship... except the University of Michigan!"

>Brad Elkus, 11.
