

Gaffigan

Q. If you weren't a teacher, what do you think you would be?

A. Benevolent dictator of a small South American country.

Did the contract struggle affect your school work?

89% No

11% Yes

Politely Protesting, the teachers put up with a lot to get their contract settled. Knowing that going on strike would only affect the students, the teachers chose not to strike, but instead politely protested. The teachers anything they could to help the very same teachers that have been helping them through high school. Brian Gale, 12, (President of the student body) spoke at a School Board meeting, to voice the support of the

"I did not have any problems during the contract struggle. The teachers did a good job remaining professional," David Grupp, 9.

showed their defiance by attaching colorful slogans around their necks, and walking in and out of school united. Though the students were not directly affected by the contract struggle, many students felt it was their duty to help or do student body for the teachers. The school board also had the students in mind while they did their best to end the struggle quickly and efficiently. With all interest in the students, the contract dispute ended on February, 22, 2002 with help from teachers, school board members, the community, and students.

1. Together we can settle! Teachers could be seen doing informational picketing of a School Board meeting or the School Board Office on Cooper Road.

2. Walking away. Mr. Steve Imhoff and Mr. Dan Murray were just a few of the many teachers who upheld working their contract day. The daily unified walk in and walk out of school was a demonstration to show the teachers' frustration with the contract negotiations.

Mrs. Callie Hoffman, Math
Dr. Terri Holden, Asst. Principal
Mrs. Mary Holtzleiter, Supt. St.
Ms. Jennette Horton, Spec. Needs
Mr. Ted Hungler, Maintenance
Mr. Chad Husting, Science
Mrs. Janet Hutzler, Printroom

Mr. Bill Ignatz, Science
Mrs. Carol Ihlendorf, Global
Mr. Steve Imhoff, Math
Mr. Bart Inwood, Art
Mrs. Kim Jarvis, BTS
Mrs. Diane Jennings, English
Mrs. Barb Jones, Health

Mr. Steve Jostworth, Business
Ms. Kate Juenger, Global
Mr. Stan Kaniecki, Math
Mrs. Diane Kasarda, Soc. Studies
Dr. Keith Kelly, Principal
Mrs. Judy Klefas, English
Ms. Debbie Klemt, Art

Mr. Chris Kloesz, English
Ms. Leslie Knotts, English
Mrs. Sue Koehler, Guidance
Mrs. Ann Kuess, Prof. Asst.
Ms. Shirley Lanner, Nutritionist
Ms. Lauren Laskowski, Trainer
Mr. Joe Lehnert, Maintenance

