

"It's just one of those things that you can't wait for, and I'm glad it's finally my turn," Lauren Zinnecker

THE LAP OF LUXURY

Hooray for Fat Tuesday! Getting fat without worries, Stephanie Maupin and Jennie Kelly eat and show their enthusiasm for Mardi Gras. Some of the senior parents put it together by gathering delicious treats, including fruity smoothies from 'Planet Smoothie'.

Servin' it up... Dad's lunch was a huge success. Dishing hot dogs, hamburgers, with brownies, cookies, chips, and fruit punch, students anxiously ate the free food. Sonny Wolfe and Josie Fields enjoyed more than their fair share.

Stop Watch: Monthly

Ice cream, candy, and Jillian's, it is better than Halloween. Well actually the candy was for Halloween. As an extra perk seniors got to dress up for Halloween, and receive a bag of candy for doing it. To welcome us into the new class, the Senior Mom's committee served us a breakfast of bagels, doughnuts, orange juice and milk; not a bad way to start off the year. Senior moms have been a big part of making the students have a fun-filled last year. February 17th was declared "Treat Your Kids Day", where senior parents were expected to give their children a surprise, like filling up their gas tank, or buying them a surprise cd. 'Fat Tuesday', though not celebrated on the correct day here, was celebrated on Tuesday, March 11th, instead of Tuesday March 4th.

"It doesn't seem like there's as many as last year," said Willi Lempert.

Some students felt there they have been cheated in comparison to last year, but others continued to enjoy what they got.

"I think it's so cute how supportive the senior parents are of us, and I really appreciate it," said Erin Ellingwood.

Seniors are treated with a higher regard, but still are made to follow the rules.

"I'm not here long enough to get any treats, I leave after fourth bell," said Ashley Tiernan.

No matter how you view it, being a senior is the best feeling in the world, and it is nice to be rewarded for it.

By Meg Hauser and Anne Willis

Edward Boker
Elissa Bookbinder
Thomas Booms
Andrea Borchers
Stephen Bortz

Rachel Bovard
John Boyd III
Benjamin Boyll
Shauna Bracher
Ronetta Braggs

