Stop Watch: Childhood

Tapes or CD's? VCR or DVD players? House phone or cell phone? So many things changed in just a few years, it was hard to keep up with the changing technology. In elementary school and junior high T.V. shows consisted of drama and comedy series' like Saved by the Bell, Full House, and Singled Out.

"I liked Saved by the Bell because Mario Lopez (Slater) was hot," said Amanda Gopman.

Coming into senior year the focus was mainly on reality shows like The Bachelor, Real World and mostly the same old sports shows for boys such as Sportscenter. Taste in music also matured, from kid bands like Ace of Base and Will Smith, to a more mellow style of Dave Matthews Band, and rap artists such as 50 cent. Fashion styles also kept up with the times.

Forever Friends. Mike Robinson and Geoff Schwartz, hang out together at Blue Ash Elementary. They managed to stay friends throughout high school as well.

"I remember when we wore tapered jeans with our book bags hanging off of one shoulder," said Ashely Butler.

Weekend plans used to consist of hanging out at the mall and BW3, while getting our licenses allowed us to travel to many different places on any given night at later hours.

"I think getting our licenses made a huge difference in our social lives," said Adam Jeranek.
