FLASHBACK TO innocence

Baseball Beginnings. Drew Roberts and Eric Shrimpton grew up as neighbors and fellow baseball teammates. They remained as good friends through their teenage years as they did back in first grade. The key to a successful friendship was being a good sport and working through problems even at a young age.

Treasured Friendships. Stacey Lowenstein and Jennifer Sosna, smile just at they did when they were ten years old at summer camp. Knowing each other their entire lives, these close friends knew that they would stay close friends at any distance.
