IT HAS been our privilege for the past few years to witness and aid with many of the recent improvements at our Alma Mater. Year by year our University has pushed forward, to take its place more definitely as an outstanding academic institution reflecting honor and glory on our faculty, our city and the student body.

As freshmen we were ignorant of the value of a college education, of college life and the possibilities of services to our institution. But fate has been kind to us. We look back on past achievements, and peer into the future with hopeful eyes and strong hearts. As individuals, whether we receive public acclaim, or in some dreary corner brush from tattered hem, the dust of weary travel, our college days will forever remain as a bright spot in our allotted span of four score and ten.

It is with real regret that we leave the campus and daily participation in student life. May we, as loyal alumni, ever strive to enhance the glory of our university, the University of Cincinnati.
