

1930

MIAMI - - - - 14

sneak, after Vossler and Cartwright had brought the ball to the one-yard line. This ended the scoring for the first quarter.

Then the Bearcats' offense came to life. Their running and passing attack completely bewildered the men from Miami. Miami held for downs once on the two-yard line, but after they kicked out the Bearcats brought the ball right back and Bursiek carried it over for a touchdown. The try for the extra point, a line buck, failed. The Bearcats seemed to like the taste of blood. After they held Miami for downs on their twenty-yard line, they drove Miami back to their eighty-yard line and surely would have scored again had not the gun ended their eighty-yard march.

Shortly after the third period started, Miami showed its only real offensive ability. Holding Cincinnati for downs when the Bearcats had a first down on the three-yard stripe, Miami began to push the Bearcats back. After a exchange of punts, Vossler and Cartwright made an uninterrupted eighty-yard drive for a touchdown. Corry's kick for the extra point ended the scoring for the afternoon.

If ever a team should have won, that team was Cincinnati on Thanksgiving Day. Five times did the Bearcats travel within Miami's five-yard line. Four of the five times Cincy's efforts were repulsed by the impregnable Miami line. The Bearcats completed thirteen out of nineteen passes attempted and made fifteen first downs to nineteen for Miami.

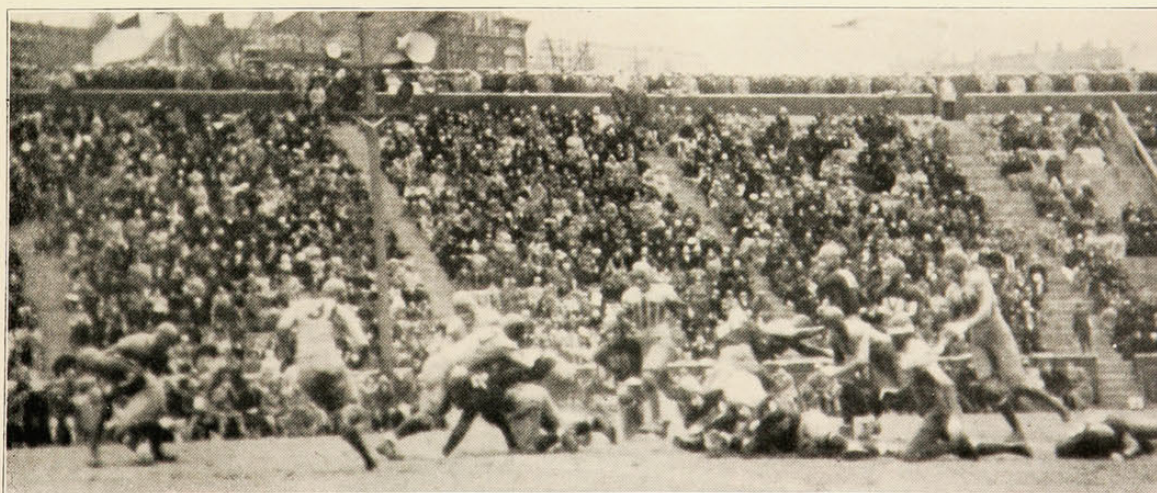

However, no credit can be taken from Miami, for they, too, played a wonderful game, making few errors. Cartwright, Vossler, and Althaus, Miami's captain and center and a Cincinnati boy, were best for Miami.

It is close to impossible to pick the best men for the Bearcats. Never have Cincinnati fans seen a better balanced team. Never have the Bearcats shown more fight. It was a great finish to the best season Cincinnati has had for a number of years. All the Credit in the world must be given Coach Babcock and his assistants for turning out such a battling team. Let's keep it going!

Those players for whom the Miami game was the last are: Frank Dost, Bill Gervers, Pete Waldman, Sig Starick, Hap Bohl, Sonny Climer, and Bob Mills.

Mills

Bursiek rips off tackle for ten yards