

1930

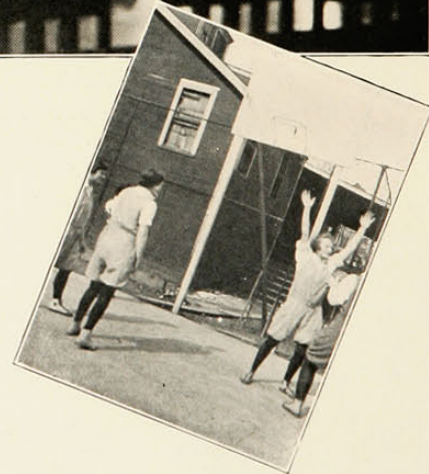

To prove that Politics are still alive on the campus these co-eds are out getting votes to put over the University Bond Issue.

And here's the old Commons all dressed up for the new year.

Here is certain proof that some people do study at college.

Few things get under way more quickly than women's athletics. The warm days won't last forever.