

■ The thud of a punted ball comes through the crisp autumn air . . . In the stadium, massed stands leap up as one . . . a monotonous prayer floats across the field . . . Hold that line! Hold that line!

■ It's the day of the big game, and what else matters?

November