

■ Quick gusts of wind blow along the Engine Quadrangle. The morning sky frowns

■ Where the woods touch the campus the trees are heavy with ice. The columns of Baldwin Hall stand tall and thin, like stately pines in the cold

January