

CATHERINE BUCKLEY, R.N., B.S.
Director of the School of Nursing and Health

In spite of the fact that the School of Nursing and Health is a vital and active department in our University, it is so far removed from our field of activity, that we seem to lose track of the work and activities in which it is engaged.

This school turns out each year a number of girls, trained not only along practical lines but along scientific lines as well. Outside activities are provided for them and for their instructors as well. Most interesting among the latest organized activities is the formation by the faculty of an orchestra. Training and leadership have been supplied by Members of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra and Dr. Ogden has been instrumental in acquiring funds with which to carry on the project. Activities such as this add color, spirit and amusement to the ordinary routine of the nurses' training.

Miss Catherine Buckley is the energetic director of the Nurses' School. Besides supplying the most interesting practice training for the student-nurses, it is her aim to provide outside amusements for her proteges along cultural and social lines. She has succeeded most admirably.
