The Crowd Looks On as Sigma Sigma Summons

As an appropriate close to the autumn social season, the Freshman Reception was held at the University "Y" on the evening of Friday, November 27. Under the able direction of Jack Pownall, Chairman, the committee spared no efforts in planning an elaborate welcome to the newcomers at the University.

The music was furnished by a well known Dayton orchestra and everyone remarked on the type of music rendered. The decorations were most attractive and a very novel program was presented to all those joining in the Grand March.

The outstanding event of the affair was the impressive pledging by Sigma Sigma. As the long procession of black-robed figures slowly marched through the crowd, their chant was the only audible sound. The following men were selected to wear the coffin of Sigma Sigma: George W. Hill, George Kramer, Gordon Strauss, Robert White, Clifford Goldmeyer, Bernard Levin, Paul Grischy and Richard Dexter.
