

Ullman vs. Tobin—Tobin wins by a good three lengths. Sarah, could you be guilty of two-timing?—and in one day on one page. Powell catches forty-two winks and wakes with a broken . . . heart. The new version of the old technique—a la Olmstead and Whitesides—Riding Student Council? This might be what is called “weighted with knowledge”—Dissipation?—“And he learned about women from her.” “Gentlemen prefer blondes.” Come on, Charles, smile for the ladies—“They shall not pass”—Woodworth. A clear eye and a steady hand.
