that only 2344 students were in the special section, and of this number about 800 went into the General Admission section, where they are ordinarily not permitted to sit. Thus about 2000 persons were in the student section, which accommodates 3000.

It is a hard enough job to satisfy a group of five or of fifty, but when you have to make each person in a crowd of 10,000 be
